

17 April 2008

Human Rights and Environment Earth Focus debate:

Mission statement:

Having met and discussed environmental rights and human rights, we conclude that they are worthy of inclusion within an International Convention of Human Rights. In addition, while there are various views, there is general agreement that these rights should be enforced. And these rights should be approached with a spirit of global collective responsibility.